Subject: #EmpowerStudentsSC Launch Day Round-Up

#EmpowerStudentsSC Makes a Splash!

Yesterday was an exciting day for Palmetto Policy as we joined with partners from the Upstate to the Lowcountry to launch our first-of-its-kind education options resource catalogue for South Carolina parents.

Empowering Students celebrates all forms of education choice in SC — charter, virtual, private and homeschool — and highlights real Palmetto State families that are happily using each of these options. It also provide an easy “one-stop-shop” of resource links for parents to learn more about each of these choices. We trust it will be a helpful starting place for families as they seek to make the best education decision for their student!

But we need your help. Please take a minute to enjoy these inspiring stories, and most importantly, help us SHARE them with your friends and family.

Empowering Students will only be as effective as the number of South Carolina parents who read it!

WHAT SC LEADERS ARE SAYING...

"As a mother, I know firsthand that no two children learn the same or learn in the same way," Haley said. "That's why as Governor, I am proud to see more and more school options for children in South Carolina. Empowering Students is a great resource for parents and students." - Governor Nikki Haley

"A traditional model puts every child in the same classroom and expects them to learn the same material, pretty much in the same way on the same schedule, should we be surprised that doesn't work for many students and many families." - Superintendent of Education Mick Zais at the Midlands launch of Empowering Students
