Do we have a hashtag we are promoting for the Statewide Prayer Vigil tomorrow? Please see below for inquiry.

Good morning! Lauren, thanks for copying me on this. Greetings, Rebecca! We are grateful to be able to participate in this important day.

Rebecca, as we continue to share the word today, we'll be using social media -- also plan to post prayers on social media at noon, in hopes that more people can share & join with us virtually at that time.

Is there a hashtag for this yet? If there is not one yet, I had planned to use #sccdayofprayer. Nobody else seems to have used it yet. But if you all have identified another one, please let me know? Thank you!

Holly

Rebecca,

We have shared the word of Tuesday's prayer vigils throughout our diocese and many of our own churches are hosting their own services. (you can see the list here: <http://www.episcopalchurchsc.org/statewide-prayers-november-22.html>)

I also know that many of the members of our churches in the diocese will participate - at their own church, or within the community. For me to estimate how many people, I couldn't do and feel remotely confident on the numbers.

But you can see by this list linked above, that many of our churches are participating.

Please advise if I can be of further assistance. I have copied Holly Behre, our communications director, on this email as well, if you have other questions. Together, we can work to get you the answers you need!

Good afternoon,

The Governor is hopeful that many South Carolinians and their places of worship will participate in Tuesday's noon Statewide Prayer Vigils, and she greatly appreciates your support.

If you are able to confirm or estimate how many people or places will be participating, please let me know. We would like to provide the Governor an update tomorrow.

Thank you again,
