

From: Ryan Kelly <ryan.k@affordablecollegetcommunity.org>
To: Lt. Governor's Office LtGov@scstatehouse.gov
Date: 2/5/2018 11:25:08 AM
Subject: Emergency preparedness and disaster prep info

Hi there,

I have a quick question about the resources on <http://ltgov.sc.gov/emergency-preparedness/pages/default.aspx>.

As you know, having a plan for emergencies and disasters is so critical for staying safe. College students living away from home can be especially vulnerable to the effects of a natural disaster. To help, our team recently published a guide to help students plan for or recover from a natural disaster while on campus. This guide explains what they should do right after a disaster, on- and off-campus resources they can turn to, and how students can help others impacted by a natural disaster. You can read the guide here:

Emergency and Disaster Preparation in College: <https://www.affordablecollegesonline.org/college-resource-center/natural-disasters/>

Will you help keep students safe by sharing this guide on your site? We believe that knowing what to do after a disaster is just as important as how to prepare for one, so I appreciate any support you can provide.

Best,

Ryan Kelly
Communications
Affordable Colleges Online

About us: Affordable Colleges Online provides community resources and tools related to higher education with an eye on affordability and accreditation. You can write to us at P.O. Box 77022, San Francisco, CA 94107 or visit our privacy policy. If you do not wish to receive affordable college education resources, please visit us here: <https://www.affordablecollegesonline.org/unsubscribe/?email=ltgov@scstatehouse.gov>. This message is intended for audiences in the United States only; if this email has reached anyone outside of the United States, please let us know and we will remove you from our sending list.