Y'all –

I wanted to follow up here. Not trying to be a pest, but we are trying to lock in details for this event.

Cate -

Happy Tuesday. Rob Godfrey here from Governor Nikki Haley's team in South Carolina. Hope all is well.

Craig and I just got off the phone. He graciously accepted Governor Haley's invitation to emcee a concert, headlined by Darius Rucker, that benefits the ongoing fundraising efforts of the One SC flood relief fund. (You probably remember that Craig is a member of the governor's One SC Fund advisory committee members. If you need any additional background on the fund, let me know.) The concert is being held as a part of the one year anniversary of last year's historic flood that devastated the Midlands, Lowcountry and coast of South Carolina.

In terms of follow up, Craig asked me to get you all the details I could for the event so you can help him find a flight back home that ensures he won't miss Saturday morning's broadcast. To that end, you'll find details below. We will follow up in the coming days with specifics about the run of show, etc. Please don't hesitate to ask as many questions as you have at any point. We'll get you answers promptly.

The event:

-- Concert - headlined by Darius Rucker - to benefit the One SC Fund for flood relief.

-- Friday, October 14, 2016, at Spirit Communications Park in Columbia.

-- 5:30 PM - 9:30 PM is the event time. The governor would definitely need him to be there 7:00-8:45 PM (We understanding that Craig may need to leave a little earlier if he has to catch a flight.).

-- Darius Rucker is playing with his band.

-- All proceeds go to rebuilding efforts of those impacts by last year's flood.

-- Invitation only event done with sponsorships.

Again, we - and that includes the governor herself - are grateful for Craig's support. Don't hesitate to reach out for anything you need. Look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Rob
