South Carolina State Parks

at 16:10:01 on 6/07/2016 UTC · 🌐

Another park has an AED (automated external defibrillator) to help keep our visitors safe! Thanks to the Friends of Paris Mountain State Park for their donation that enabled us to purchase an AED for Paris Mountain. Shown here is Park Manager Jason Hege with this great new resource.

MeLissa Miller You mean ALL the state parks don't have one????

at 16:55:27 on 6/07/2016 UTC

Lynn Burns They cost a lot and it takes time and money to get them in place

at 18:31:50 on 6/07/2016 UTC

MeLissa Miller Actually, I used to sell them for a living. They can be purchased for around $1500 each. That's a small price to pay for a life.

MeLissa Miller Not to mention that I was selling them in South Carolina almost 15 years ago so they've had more than enough time.

MeLissa Miller As a matter of fact I contacted the state park system today to see how I could do my part. What are you all going to do??

at 1:35:17 on 6/08/2016 UTC

Dr Kimberly McGeorge, ND, CNH - Saluting the work that clearly goes into this page..

South Carolina State Parks MeLissa, currently 30 of our 47 parks have AEDs and we're working to get at least one for each park.

at 17:15:26 on 6/08/2016 UTC

MeLissa Miller Never said others were not doing anything. But since you so generously volunteered me to donate I thought I'd ask what you've personally done. 😊

at 17:35:42 on 6/08/2016 UTC

MeLissa Miller South Carolina State Parks that is a wonderful start. I'm talking with some friends to figure out how we can help raise funding for more, and to lobby our elected officials to make funding available for their purchase. Our park system is amazing, and we appreciate the work all of you do to make it that way.

MeLissa Miller Maybe this is something Tom Davis or Rep. Mick Mulvaney could help the citizens of South Carolina with. They're most likely not even aware that all of our parks do not have AEDs.

South Carolina State Parks Thank you for your kind words!
