

From: Rep. Bill Taylor, SC House District 86 <bill@taylorschouse.com>
To: Card, RachelRachelCard@gov.sc.gov
Date: 6/16/2016 6:11:53 PM
Subject: Ethics Reform Survives!

You're receiving this email because of your relationship with TaylorSCHouse. You may unsubscribe if you no longer wish to receive our emails.

Ethics Reform Survives!

Dear Friends:

The SC General Assembly returned to the Statehouse Wednesday to consider Governor Haley's vetoes of bills and line items in the state budget for the coming year.

Ethics Reform Finally Passes

At the very last moment (late into the night) the SC Senate finally joined the House and agreed to ethics reform that would stop, what some say, "Is like having the fox guard the hen house." The ethics reform would no longer allow legislators to investigate themselves; that would be done by professional investigators at the Ethics Commission. Another ethics bill calls for all public officials in the state to reveal their sources of private income allowing citizens to better potential conflicts of interest. Both bills were sent to Gov.

Haley just as the legislative session drew to a close.

Gov. Haley's reaction came within moments: "Tonight, after four years of hard work, the people of South Carolina have a real reason to celebrate. Income disclosure and independent investigations will help restore the people's trust in state government by making it more accountable to those it serves. We thank the House and Senate for keeping their promise and helping us bring this home."

Lynn Teague of the League of Women Voters reacted to the passage: "It is wonderful that we will now have independent law-enforcement professionals investigating complaints against legislators. The reform will give the public more confidence in the objectivity of investigations."

The House led the fight for ethics reform over the past two years whereas some viewed the Senate as far more reluctant. Shortly after taking office in 2014, House Speaker Jay Lucas formed a special House panel to examine the state's ethics laws. I served on that panel. We developed a package of nearly 20 recommendations. While only two passed this session, they were the big ones!

SC Still Has "Liquor-cycles" Thanks to one Senator!
Moped Bill Dies in Senate

During the final moments of Wednesday's session the moped-safety bill died when the Senate adjourned without deciding whether to override Gov. Haley's veto of the wide-sweeping legislation. The governor objected to the bill saying it was government overreach by requiring moped riders to wear reflective vests at night and mandating riders younger than 21 wear helmets. Most importantly, the legislation, that has been 6 years in development, would have given mopeds a single definition under state law, allowing officers to stop and charge intoxicated moped drivers with DUI. With that, mopeds would no longer be referred to as "Liquor-cycles" in SC. Earlier in the day, House members voted 69-33 to override Haley's veto after an earlier vote to sustain it. The bill reached the Senate but never received a vote because (AGAIN!) Sen. Gerald Malloy, D-Darlington, blocked it as he does with many good pieces of legislation. The archaic Senate rules allow ONE senator to be a RULER without debate or voting to allow the majority to decide.

As for being a "Liquor-cycle", not every moped rider is forced to use a moped because they lost their driver's license. It's affordable transportation for college students and others in urban areas where speed limits are 35 mph or less. But we have major problems with mopeds; particularly on highways where they are a danger to the moped rider and other drivers. This bill would have been a major step forward. ABATE and other motorcycle enthusiasts supported the legislation and helped fine tune it.

Unbelievably, some House Democrats fought the bill claiming (in essence) that moped riders weren't smart enough to understand the proposed law, were too poor to buy an $8 reflective vest or a helmet and they didn't have time to go to the DMV for a license. Here's a question for everyone -- how many of you have come close to hitting a moped? That would likely be deadly to the moped rider and devastating to you and your family. Something must be done! We'll try again next session.

Finished!

The 121st regular session of the legislature is finished. We could be called back in an emergency, but we'll be back in business this December when the 122nd session is convened. Legislative work continues for me. I return to the Statehouse Monday for a committee hearing of the House Legislative Oversight Committee. We continue to meet regularly throughout the off-session.

Of Special Note

Some of my newsletter readers live in a voting district that will have runoff elections June 28. These elections usually have extremely light turn out, meaning a slight few will make decisions for the majority. Mark your calendar and VOTE one more time. The candidates are counting on you.

Keeping in Touch

During the off-session I suspend my regular weekly Legislative Updates and only write when I have something newsworthy to report.

I'm Available and AT YOUR SERVICE

If you need assistance navigating state government, or have any thoughts or concerns about what we are doing, please do not hesitate to contact me.

In your Service,

Bill Taylor

803-270-2012

Representative
South Carolina General Assembly

Bill@taylorschouse.com
www.Taylorschouse.com

Photo of the Week

Newsletter not paid for by taxpayer funds.

Legal Notice: This newsletter is not a solicitation for contributions to any SC registered lobbyist.

We honored Pam Robertson, the legislative aide to the Aiken Legislative Delegation
at the Statehouse. We surprised Pam with a House Resolution recognizing her for more than 40 years of faithful service to the House and Senate. She's our guiding light in providing caring constituent service.

Thank you, Pam!

Bill Taylor for SC House District 86, P.O. Box 2646, Aiken, SC 29801

SafeUnsubscribe™ rachelcard@gov.sc.gov

Update Profile | About our service provider

Sent by bill@taylorschouse.com in collaboration with

Try it free today