Elder Day

Dear governor Nikki Haley,

They say that with age comes wisdom, but even I'm old enough to know that old people deserve a day where they can feel special again. This is why I'm proposing a new state holiday: Elder Day. With this new holiday our senior citizens of SC will be honored on an equal level as our veterans. Elders deserve a holiday for many reasons, here are a few: scientifically elders think slower because they are so wise, the younger population learned about WW2 from a book; our elders experienced it, and most importantly-our elders care. With mother's day and father's day, why is there no elder day? America (and most importantly SC) should officially take any one day to support the old people that made the USA so great. Thank you for your consideration.

Most sincerely,

Samuel Bricker
