Dear Governor Haley,

My name is Lucy L. Joe my home of record born and raised in Greeleyville , S.C. and once was proud tax payer of South Carolina until I married a Greeleyville resident and we are now retired military living and working in Hinesville, Georgia (Fort Stewart). Governor Haley I am very concern about Greeleyville since the storm or massive flooding the post office building have become unsafe with possible mold. The residents now have to travel 13 miles or better to Kingstree or Manning to mail a letter or ship a package. Which is hard for the elderly or families without transportation. The residents have no supermarket, now the post office, so if you are in need of a stamp you have to drive or ask a neighbor. This is so sad at least a make shift trailor post office could help them. Greeleyville need their post office. Can you please look into this, I know your busy but it would help so many families. We are smiling faces, but this is not beautiful. The residents have voiced their concern only among themselves, but I stand to ask for help for my family members and friends. Thank you for what you do for the state of South Carolina.
