There are a lot of people that work there that should not lose their jobs over some big business crap. Not to mention the people of that area that depends on the income from them being there working and spending money there that they will feel the hurt from that also. Santee Cooper should be able to get away with what they are doing and the Governor's Office should step in and do something. If there isn't a law that prohibits them from doing it then they should have to treat plant the same way they (Santee Cooper) treat others they transmit for.

Without this company around, the job market will be flooded with 600 jobs and this community really depends on the revenue from its workers.

I don't think it's right for a state own company to cost the state 600+ jobs and a billion dollars
