Description/Significant Features:

The house, which is currently abandoned and has fallen into disrepair, is a one-and-one-half-story, frame residence with a front-gabled roof. Front elevation is three bays wide: central door flanked by a single window opening on either side; a gabled porch, which is an extension of the main roofline, spans the front elevation and is supported by rough-hewn, square posts. A square opening is centered within the gable end. Eastern elevation has a three single window openings, which have been covered with plywood. An interior brick chimney is visible along the eastern side of the roof. The house is covered with wooden weatherboard siding and the roof has visible raftertails
