<MSG> I am concerned with what I am suppose to do about my children having health insurance. I received a statement in the mail saying that my childrens medicaid will be canceled as of March 1, 2009 due to my fiance making too much money. He makes $900.00/week but if he made too much, don't you think we could afford to pay for insurance for both of our kids. Our bills each week are over $800.00 after we pay the daycares, my school- so that I can better myself to eventually be able to pay for my kids insurance, electricity, rent, car insurances, water, etc.. I'm not sure how they base it on what you make instead of how much you have after the bills are paid. There are people out there that are capable of working, but choose not to and they get over on the system with EBT, Welfare checks, medicaid, etc.
and I am trying to better myself and my finance is working 72 hours a week killing himself to do right for our family, but we can't seem to get any kind of assistance. !
Not to mention he just told me today that his hours are getting cut to 55hr/week. I think the system is a little messed up and I need some kind of help with this. I am a full-time student and mother of two girls and we live check to check and it is very hard, but most importantly my kids NEED health insurance and right now we can barely afford to pay for groceries, much less health insurance. I would greatly appreciate a response and your help. </MSG>

Dear Mrs. Smith:

US Senator Lindsey Graham asked our agency to respond to your concerns about Medicaid eligibility and your children's healthcare needs.

Your children's Medicaid coverage under the Partners for Healthy Children program ended March 1, 2009, because your family income, at the time of review, exceeded the allowable limit. Income is based on gross earnings and does not allow deductions for taxes, utilities, car payments or other living expenses.

Fortunately, your children, Alyssa and Harlee, will continue to receive Medicaid without any breaks in coverage. You have been approved for Medicaid under the Low Income Families program effective March 1, 2009. The same Medicaid cards may be used.

If your living situation or income changes, please report those changes to Ms. Beggs immediately so that she may review your eligibility as appropriate. Ms. Beggs can be reached at (843) 740-5947.

If you have other questions about the Medicaid program, please contact Jenny Lynch in Constituent Services at (803) 898-3965. We hope this information is helpful.

Sincerely,

Alicia Jacobs
