Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The Harvard Kennedy School's Social Impact Bond Technical Assistance Lab (SIB Lab) is pleased to announce the next six governments who will be receiving our technical assistance to develop pay-for-success contracts using social impact bonds (SIBs). These governments are:

· Colorado/Denver
· Connecticut
· Illinois
· New York
· Ohio
· South Carolina

They were selected in a national competition funded by The Rockefeller Foundation.

Read the full press release here. Read the story in today's Washington Post here. For further information about our work, please visit www.hks-siblab.org.

Regards,

Jeffrey Liebman
Malcolm Wiener Professor of Public Policy and SIB Lab Director
Harvard Kennedy School