Winter Ag Study Tour Set For Chile

The South Carolina Department of Agriculture announces the 2003 Winter Ag Study Tour to Chile. The tour is confirmed, pending adequate participants, for January 14 - 23, 2002.

Chile is a country of great contrast and beauty. The country occupies a long narrow strip of land between the Andes Mountains and the Pacific Ocean in South America. The seasons are the opposite of South Carolina with summer being December 21 - March 20. Santiago, the capital, is a very modern city that is characterized by the preservation of colonial buildings.

The nine day tour will include all aspects of agriculture and agribusiness opportunities. A diverse itinerary ranging from livestock operations, field crops, fruits and vegetables, nurseries to speciality crops, this trip offers everyone a chance to view and learn from those on-site visits. University staff members from Chile will accompany our group to answer questions and relate information during the entire trip.

The Department has included a little bit of everything while keeping in mind what you feel the purpose of an agricultural tour should encompass; an opportunity to learn new and innovative production and marketing techniques suitable for your operation here in South Carolina.

The South Carolina Department of Agriculture encourages you and others to strongly consider your participation. Act early and reserve your space. Space is limited to the first 44 people. As always, spouses are welcome on the tour. The trip is tax deductible and open to all.

If you need additional information or plan to participate, please contact Roy Copelan, our tour manager, at 803-734-2200.

Chef Wallace Serves South Carolina Quality

Each year at the Taste of the Tidelands in Pawleys Island, chefs are offered an opportunity to compete for the "Serving South Carolina Quality Chef of the Year" award, presented by the SC Department of Agriculture. To compete for the award, chefs participating in the Taste of the Tidelands competition are invited to prepare and serve a dish using South Carolina grown or processed products. Each entry is judged by a distinguished panel on taste, presentation, and creativity.

This past year's winner of the Serving SC Quality Chef of the Year award was Chef Michael Wallace with the Hilton Oceanfront Resort for his Carolina Crab Cakes presented with fried green tomatoes and served with Creole mustard aioli.

The youngest of five children, Chef Mike Wallace grew up in Southern California. His mother died when he was only 10, and his father died when he was just 13. So, Mike lived with his oldest brother and wife until he was 18 years old at which time, he enlisted in the Army to help fund his education. Stationed at Ft. Campbell, Kentucky, he served his tour-of-duty as a food service specialist contributing to his dream to become a chef. As shift leader and first cook in charge of preparation of all meals and ice carving on special occasions, Mike was responsible for all of the food production for 375 soldiers.

Mike's dream to become a chef became a reality in September of 1990 when he graduated from the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, NY. Prior to his graduation, he performed his "externship" at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City. His instructors at the Culinary Institute voted him the "Most Outstanding Student."

After graduation from the Culinary Institute, Mike worked extensively abroad serving as chef at the Ramada Renaissance Hotel and the Le Marignac, both in Geneva, Switzerland. After traveling extensively in Europe, Mike returned to his home state of California to work at the Regent Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Beverly Hills, at the Dana Point Resort Watercolors Restaurant in Dana Point as Restaurant Chef, and at Etienne's French Restaurant in San Clemente. Mike moved to Nashville, Tennessee, in March 1996 and worked at the Opryland Hotel. He now serves as the Executive Chef of the Hilton Oceanfront Resort in Hilton Head Island, SC. Mike and his wife, Juliene, have two daughters, Jasmine Thyme and Daisy Saffron, and one son, William Sage.

Chef Wallace is currently responsible for all food-related aspects of a multi-unit which includes: Banquets, Shorehouse, Mostly Seafood, Palmetto Café, Buoy Bar & Grill, Deli, Room Service and Regatta Lounge, in a 325-room Gold Key Resort. His responsibilities include culinary, stewarding, staffing, training, budget, cost-control, menu development, sanitation, ordering, quality control and, most importantly, customer satisfaction.

Presented by the Pawleys Island-Litchfield Business Association and Restaurant Solutions, the Taste of the Tidelands is coordinated and hosted by Peter Ryan, consultant and director of the event. Established to encourage creativity in the culinary arts, the Taste of the Tidelands is also designed to promote tourism through the restaurant industry and generate funds for culinary arts scholarships and for charities. Proceeds from the 2001 event were donated to the Ernst Royal Scholarship for Carolinians, which was established to enable South Carolina chefs to attend the Culinary Arts Institute, the Uniformed Firefighters Association Widow's and Children's Fund of New York and local charities. This year, $13,500 was raised to support those causes.

Chef Wallace uses South Carolina products as much as possible in developing his menus. Since he takes great pleasure in creating food that is not only beautiful in presentation, but also enjoyable in taste, he chooses to serve South Carolina Quality. Chef Mike Wallace---the Serving South Carolina Quality Chef of the Year!
