Yes, I believe they can unless the individual appointee is no longer a resident of the district to which they have been appointed.

I'll look at those and talk to Martha about them.

Subject: Appointments Question

Jeff,

We had made some interim appointments to the Board of Nursing and sent them over for confirmation in January. They were read across the desk and referred to committee. While I know that they cannot be confirmed until the legislation has been passed, my question is can they go ahead and be screened by the medical affairs committee?

Thanks,
