I thought this was appropriate to share given the current challenges we often face in law enforcement.

The attached picture was taken today at the Publix (Cane Bay) in Summerville. The lady in the middle is Jennifer Morris, a cashier who checked out DNR F/Sgt Brian Crawford when he was buying the food to make us a chicken bog. When Ms. Morris found out the food was being used to feed all of us, she pulled out her own credit card and paid for the food. It was refreshing to find out there are people out there who still appreciate what we do. We all appreciate Ms. Morris' thoughtfulness and generosity.
