Hello Rob.

I tried calling again and your voice mail is now full.

While this week is now working out to be too busy for everyone, we would love to consider doing the interview after the SC Primary.

Will Gov. Haley be in Charleston tomorrow or Friday? Nancy would love to meet her in person if that works.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Best,
Lynn

Hello Nicole,

Any possibility Nancy Brinker could meet up with Governor Haley when she is in Charleston this week??

Best to you,
Lynn

Dear Governor Haley,

I hope this note finds you well. You are still getting high praise for your eloquent and memorable response to the State of the Union last month. You did an outstanding job. I have been approached by Newmax's President and CEO Chris Ruddy to contribute to their television news division as a host of a new newsmaker series. I want to give the Newsmax audience the opportunity to hear from a diversity of newsmakers who are making a difference in American leadership, policy, healthcare and quality of life. I would love to debut this project with an interview with you as my first guest. Your personal story and your record of accomplishment and vision for the future make you the perfect guest. The length, breath and scope of the interview content can be accommodated to suit your objectives and schedule (I'll actually be in Charleston February 18 and February 19 if either of those days will work - my colleague Lynn Sellers lives in Charleston and would help coordinate (843) 901-9222 or lhsellers@comcast.net )

Women in 2016 will decide who our next President will be as well as the make up of the House and Senate and local and state elections. Your voice will be heard in this regard and I want to help you spread your positive message. I look forward to working with you and your staff should you be able to accommodate my request.

Best,
Nancy G. Brinker
