
From: Schimsa, Rebecca
Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 11:40 AM
To: Burns, James; Haley, Nikki; Haley, Michael; Patel, Swati; Godfrey, Rob
Subject: RE: EMD Alert - Darlington County Shelters

Final update on Darlington storm damage:

Duke restored all power yesterday afternoon and the shelter was not needed last night. This incident is closed.

-----Original Message-----

From: Schimsa, Rebecca
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 10:36 AM
To: Burns, James; Haley, Nikki; Haley, Michael; Patel, Swati; Godfrey, Rob
Subject: RE: EMD Alert - Darlington County Shelters

At this time, there are no requests for state assistance.

As an update, the latest report shows that no one has chosen to use the shelters. The local fire department went door to door in the neighborhoods without power to let folks know that a shelter (cooling station) was available. The Red Cross remains on scene, and DSS will staff the shelters. Power should be restored within a day or two.

-----Original Message-----

From: Burns, James
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 10:01 AM
To: Schimsa, Rebecca; Haley, Nikki; Haley, Michael; Patel, Swati; Godfrey, Rob
Subject: RE: EMD Alert - Darlington County Shelters

Thanks Becca. Do the shelters have whatever cooling stations, etc. that they need or will they need anything from the state?

James H. Burns
Chief of Staff
Governor Nikki Haley
Cell: 803-315-3899
Office: 803-734-5117

-----Original Message-----

From: Schimsa, Rebecca
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 10:00 AM
To: Haley, Nikki; Haley, Michael; Burns, James; Patel, Swati; Godfrey, Rob
Subject: EMD Alert - Darlington County Shelters

Due to overnight power issues in Hartsville and Florence, there are a few hundred customers still without power today. As a result and due to the heat, some shelters will open until power is restored.