Dear Governor:

I am writing to a select group of people for whom I believe my book, Chief: An American Novel, will be both interesting and useful.

I hope that you will read – and enjoy it (soon.)

Regards,
Cole Strider

BOOK DESCRIPTION:

Mankind has had many heroes. They're about to need a new one.

The most lucrative business venture in the history of mankind has civilization teetering on the brink of cataclysmic transformation. Anyone posing a threat to the venture's success is being targeted...

A man plummets to a gruesome death. A scientist vaporizes. A brutal sadist enslaves a young woman.

Smart, educated and audacious Native Americans, Aspen, Sequoia, Fox, and Breeze feel compelled to discover the truth behind such disturbing events. Dangerously unaware of what they are up against, they become entangled in personal and political intrigue, on the reservation and off, across America, and spanning the globe.

An unconventional champion will rise and strive to halt the disastrous venture. But without extraordinary support, this intrepid hero cannot possibly prevail. Will a highly covert Special Force – the Security and Intelligence Guard of Native American Lineage – emerge from the shadows to help? Together, might they triumph? Or will a broken and dispirited world be only able to watch as a fallen hero is carried home?
