Thanks, Chaney!

I'm glad we had that talk earlier and I hope you understand my point. Not only do we want to be fair to you guys, but we have to show our readers that we're being fair as well, especially since the claims made by DOE are pretty strong in the response.

But I hear what you're saying as well. For future reference, when we reach out on an issue that's pretty much going to garner the same response, are you comfortable with my earlier suggestion. I imagine it would read something like this:

The governor's office said Tuesday that its position has not changed on the issue.

“Quote from earlier article”

I think that would be a fair way to move forward so that you're not refusing to comment and at the same time, it shows that we did our due diligence and reached out to you guys. Just let me know if that would work. Thanks!

Derrek

Quote from Haley press secretary Chaney Adams, "The governor has been clear: South Carolina will not be a dumping ground for nuclear waste. We deserve better than the years of broken promises we've seen from the federal government, and we won't back down on what is an important economic development and quality of life issue for the people of our state."

Hi, Chaney.

Just looking to see if you guys have a response to DOE's response to the lawsuit in which they say it should be dismissed.

Also, I can't find a copy to the response. Do you know where I could find it? I've asked around and haven't heard from anyone yet Thanks!
