PURPOSE: Governor Haley will provide the welcome address at the 2013 Medicaid Enterprise Systems Conference – the theme of the conference is “Enabling Healthcare Innovation”

PRESS: Yes.

PUBLIC: Yes.

REQUESTED BY: Tony Keck

ATTENDEES: There are currently 1,224 people registered: 305 are Government (mostly State employees from all 50 States and one territory) and 916 Non-Government (including vendors and contractors). Major vendors include Oracle, Accenture, HP, Magellan, Molina, and Deloitte.

SPEAKING TIME: 10 mins.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS:

Talking Points for Governor Haley

The theme for this conference, Enabling Healthcare Innovation, could not be timelier and more important. Because when we look at the growth of Medicaid and of healthcare costs in general over the last 40 years – without similar improvements in health – it is crystal clear that we are on an unsustainable path if we fail to fundamentally change the system.

In 2009, Medicaid became the largest state program in South Carolina's total state budget. In 2011, Medicaid accounted for $5.9 billion in total state expenditures, or 28% of the overall $21.1 billion total state budget. Every dollar that we spend on Medicaid is a dollar we can't put into our schools, into our roads and infrastructure, or back into the pockets of taxpayers.

Poor value in health care isn't unique to South Carolina, nor is it restricted to Medicaid. Nationally, Medicaid accounts for an average of nearly 25 percent of state expenditures. Total healthcare spending in the US was almost 18 percent of GDP and that number is expected to rise to 20 percent by 2020. Yet the US falls further and further behind in health status.

That's why we need to fundamentally change the system to focus on the Triple Aim of improving population health, reducing per capita health care costs and improving the patient experience. Simply spending more money without implementing change in how we deliver and pay for care will not move us toward these goals.

We all recognize that half the states represented in this hall are expanding Medicaid and half are not. And that two-thirds of your states are running federal exchanges and one-third state-based exchanges.

What I DID NOT see on your agenda for the next few days, however, was lots of hand-wringing and debate about these differences.

What I DID see was a lot hard work and attention paid to implementing better systems that produce better health at lower costs regardless of your states' decisions. We have to keep this as our focus and I commend all of you for doing the hard work that rarely gets mentioned in the media as we talk about health care reforms.

Your work is critical in reforming this system. If I can ask one thing of you over the next few days, please talk about how better use of information technology can help us share information among beneficiaries, health providers as well as state and federal agencies and policymakers.

Everyday I challenge my cabinet to work together on systems to deliver better value. We will never truly get the results our citizen's deserve if we can't see the whole person or family as something more than the recipients of a set of uncoordinated benefits and government programs. We need to think about how health, education, jobs, public safety all work together to build a stronger state and you can help us do that with information and analytics.

Again, welcome to South Carolina. We hope you make the most of your time at this year's Medicaid Enterprise Systems Conference and that you enjoy your stay in Charleston.

SPEAKING ORDER/LINE-BY-LINE:Medicaid Enterprise System Conference (MESC) OverviewMorning Schedule*

Mon 8:45 AM - 9:00 AM	Opening Remarks: Anthony E. "Tony" Keck, Director, SCDHHS
Mon 9:00 AM - 9:15 AM	Opening Address: Governor Nikki R. Haley, South Carolina
Mon 9:15 AM - 10:15 AM	Catastrophic Care: How American Healthcare Killed My Father – And How We Can Fix It

Conference Description

MESC (formerly known as the MMIS Conference) brings together thought leaders from the public and private sectors to share ideas and information related to Medicaid systems and initiatives. The five-day conference will feature Ken Miller, author of "Extreme Government Makeover," and David Goldhill, author of "Catastrophic Care: How American Healthcare Killed My Father - And How We Can Fix It," as keynote speakers.

Numerous sessions will help Medicaid leaders advance their workforce, data, analytics and Medicaid Management Information Systems to drive innovation and support the programmatic changes underway in. In addition to the speakers listed above, sessions will feature the federal Health and Human Services Chief Technology Officer, Bryan Sivak, and CMS leaders Julie Boughn and Jessica Kahn.

States spend several billion dollars annually on the Medicaid information systems and consulting/process improvement work that will be discussed at this conference. South Carolina DHHS is officially considered the host and had considerable input into the conference agenda and speakers. There are currently 1,224 people registered: 305 are Government (mostly State employees from all 50 States and one territory) and 916 Non-Government (including vendors and contractors). Major vendors include Oracle, Accenture, HP, Magellan, Molina, and Deloitte.

Meeting/Photo-op with John Emerson, US Ambassador to Germany -- BMW booth

We are fine to schedule a short meeting and photo opp with US Ambassador to Germany John Emerson while the Gov is at the BMW booth. Please have Bobby or yourself staff the meeting with the Gov and Courtney. Also, please remember to let Courtney know the time, location, and other logistics for the meeting. Thank you for your help on this.

Courtney – Here is an article about Ambassador Emerson's recent appointment for background:

The US ambassador-designate to Germany has arrived with his family in Berlin. John Emerson served in the Clinton administration and headed an international management firm.

John Emerson replaces former Ambassador Philip Murphy. Both Emerson and his wife Kimberly worked at the White House under the Clinton administration. He worked on trade issues while she was engaged in public diplomacy.

An attorney and longtime Democratic Party donor and activist, Emerson played prominent roles in several election campaigns, usually for moderate democrats.

Emerson first came to Germany in 1975 and returned in the 1980s on an exchange program. President of Private Client Services for Capital Group Companies, an international management firm, the new ambassador said in his introductory video he was excited by the potential for transatlantic trade and investment partnership, calling it a top priority for President Barack Obama.

Emerson was Bill Clinton's California campaign manager and served from 1993 to 1997 as deputy assistant to the president. He coordinated the Clinton-Gore transition team's economic conference in 1992 and served as the president's liaison to California in the aftermath of the January 1994 Northridge earthquake.

After leaving the Clinton administration, Emerson joined Capital Group Companies, one of the world's largest investment management firms.

Emerson has served as the chairman of the Music Center of Los Angeles County and as director of the Los Angeles Metropolitan YMCAs. He has also been appointed by Obama to serve on his Advisory Committee for Trade Policy and Negotiations.

Coming from Los Angeles with their three teenage daughters the Emerson family enjoy music and sports.

Emerson takes up his post on August 26.
