

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20140214South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10152206585943166

South Carolina State Parks

at 14:45:43 on 2/14/2014 UTC ·

UPDATE! Currently the following parks are closed due to damage from the winter storm or power outage: Aiken, Barnwell, Santee, Redcliffe, Rivers Bridge, Poinsett, Sesqui (should open later today), Little Pee Dee, Landsford Canal, Hamilton Branch, Givhans Ferry, Colleton, Myrtle Beach (hope to open later today), Caesars Head, Jones Gap (should open later today). All other parks are open as usual and ready for a great weekend! Please check here for further updates.

Brian Herring How are roads near Oconee?

at 15:15:41 on 2/14/2014 UTC

Haley Beth Fisher Rabon Would love to see pictures from Poinsett as well as other parks!!!

at 15:16:48 on 2/14/2014 UTC

Nancy Eargle Hargrove Thank you for all the parks personnel and how hard they work to get these parks back open. Many want to see the damage, but it's their job to try and make it look like what you remember. Most of these parks have no power and no water. Y'all be safe!

at 15:43:37 on 2/14/2014 UTC

South Carolina State Parks Brian Herring, the park is telling me that roads near Oconee are in good shape!

at 16:53:03 on 2/14/2014 UTC

Brent Shelton Will Poinsett be open by the 25th? And how does the lake look?

at 17:40:16 on 2/14/2014 UTC

Chrissy Walser I was just talking to my Kids about Poinsett today. We were wondering how they did in the storm.

at 20:47:48 on 2/14/2014 UTC

South Carolina State Parks Brent Shelton, as soon as I have an update on Poinsett, I will post some information for you. We're waiting on power there.

at 21:22:23 on 2/14/2014 UTC

Brent Shelton Ok. Thanks.

at 22:40:15 on 2/14/2014 UTC

South Carolina State Parks Brent Shelton, I spoke to the park late yesterday and they said the power is still out, but the lake looks great! Very clear. They said everything should be back to normal by Feb. 25.

at 14:49:11 on 2/15/2014 UTC