ABOUT THE PROGRAM

When you are disengaged from your work, you pay a high price-for yourself, for your clients and for your coworkers. Client service may be compromised, your judgment impaired and you expose yourself to ethical risks. When lack of commitment affects the whole firm, it leads to turnover and firm breakups. You can't be unhappy in your professional life and not suffer elsewhere. If you believe in the "pursuit of happiness" and want to work and live with joy and fulfillment, then get back in touch with your core beliefs, values and sense of identity. Achieving your passion can happen right where you are in your practice now, or it may move you into a totally new sphere.
