A Cost Effective Way to Build Development Finance Capacity in Your Organization

Join the hundreds of agencies and organizations from across the US that have partnered with NDC to sponsor our training for members of their staffs and local development practitioners. Groups, both small and large, benefit from the opportunity to build their development finance capacity in their own backyards. NDC's complete training curriculum is available for local sponsorship – from standalone courses of varying lengths on the full range of financing tools to multi-course economic and housing development finance certification programs. However, the benefits of locally sponsored training don't end there. NDC can work with you to customize existing courses or create unique training programs that focus on the specific capacity building needs or interests of your audience or community while saving your organization on related time and travel expenses.
