Subject: Adoption of Braelynn Puckett

Reference:

Tammy and Edward Daising, of Rock Hill, S.C., filed papers with the South Carolina Supreme Court on Friday in their fight to retain custody of their adopted daughter, Braelynn Puckett.

After reading regarding the adoption of Braelynn Puckett to think that she can be removed from the only home she has know from birth an until now. Tammy and Edward Daising have been there for her each day and night of her life giving her the home of responsibly parents.

The father now appears to have concern and wanting to be a parent he had a chance and made choices for his own personal reasons without thinking of Braelynn when she was born. What about her rights? Known the Courts want to keep the biological parents and child together. Once adoptive the Daising became the parents.

The law has been written for years regarding adoption and courts should honor that commitment to the adoptive parents for the best interest of a child. The records should have been sealed so this doesn't happen.

Please don't let the court reverse this adoption and rip Braelynn out of the arms of the Daising. This will effect Braelynn for life.
