OK, thanks. Ted is on Guard duty next week, but I'll be around. And congratulations on your confirmation, of course.

My discussion with Mike Shealy went very well this morning. Let's discuss on Monday. I can review the steps we have discussed and obtain your input.

Have a good weekend.

Great! I was planning on discussing this with you today. I have just met with the Finance Chairman's Chief of Staff and he understood completely and will work with us to obtain the Senator's buy-in. I had informed him that I was 90% there but wanted to put together a package that would demonstrate the reasons for the change of direction.

He liked the idea and your analysis will go a long way to starting this process. I will review this weekend and we can discuss on Monday.

I am in the office if you need to speak prior to Monday.

Bill, these are two documents that I have been putting my thoughts into. The first is a spreadsheet that attempts to identify the costs of a new system and then the offsetting savings from a number of buckets. These are ballparks, but I wanted to capture some of the savings types that we have been discussing.

The second is a spreadsheet that lists some justifications for changing direction and abandoning the internal Application Development focus.
