Latest updates, everyone. Just think, when this is all over at 3 p.m., we can wind down to Christmas break.

I found some errors in the talking points and we made a few adjustments. All other material remains the same. I plan to send one final update at 1:30 p.m. before we head on over to the governor's mansion, unless there are no changes.

- We still need a podium or mic stand.
- Do we know yet which gate at the mansion we should tell our guests to use, and where should we tell them to park?
- And would still love to have a few chairs for those who struggle to stand for an hour.

Thanks tremendously for your patience and support!!

Subject: UPDATED: Material for Chef Ambassadors press conference Tuesday and a few logistics

Importance: High

Hi, guys, me again. This is the latest version of material for the press conference we're holding tomorrow at 3 p.m. See attached the proposed run-of-show; the corresponding talking points for Governor Haley, Commissioner Weathers and Director Parrish; the press release we plan to issue statewide at 4 p.m. tomorrow, and the latest list of attendees (we've had a few updates. Names struck through will not attend tomorrow.)

Please forward to anyone on your team who needs to remain informed.

- Several of us at SCPRT and Dept of Ag will arrive at the mansion at 2 p.m. for set up.
- We have also asked the chefs to arrive at 2 p.m. to go over the run-of-show and expectations.
- Guests have asked which gate they should arrive in? Can someone let us know? And best place to park? We are expecting a little more than 50 people.
- Possible to have a few chairs provided for those who cannot stand for long periods of time? Maybe 10-15 chairs.

- SCPRT has a speaker and cordless mic, but we do not have a podium or mic stand. If someone can provide a podium, or even a mic stand, that would be great.

Any questions, feel free to touch base with me.

And thanks for working so well with us!
