Description/Significant Features:

The historic core of this single-story Minimal Traditional frame residence is L-shape in design. Originally three bays wide and two-bays deep a large multi-bay frame addition was made to the building's western elevation sometime during the mid/late-twentieth century. A single-bay screened-in porch was also added to the building's eastern elevation. The primary entrance to the house is framed by a single-bay shed-roof porch, also likely an addition. New vinyl windows and doors occupy all of the building's openings and its exterior is clad in replacement vinyl siding. An original, brick, ridge chimney projects through the building's roof.

Alterations (include date(s), if known):

addition of screened-in porch to eastern elevation (mid/late-twentieth-century)

multi-bay addition to western elevation (mid/late-twentieth-century) replacement windows and doors

addition of shed-roof front entry porch
