I'd be interested in attending, but it'll depend on timing/location. I already have a couple of immovable items in my calendar, and we're pretty heavily into budget production mode at that point.

I've been to Albany in November on countless occasions and believe they should be immediately disqualified as prospective hosts, based upon the weather.

Hi John & Christian,
The SIB Lab program manager is beginning initial plans for a convening of all the government leads and fellows from the states we are working with sometime in November. He asked that I confirm that you both would be interested in attending (and anyone else who may be interested – perhaps Tony?) and if there is a preference for location (some states have expressed an interest in hosting). Please let me know your thoughts.
Thanks!
