Brian – thanks for your help. The Bulldogs are honoring the state’s first responders in numerous ways at their home game this Saturday (Oct.29) against East Tennessee University.

We would be honored and would greatly appreciate it if your videographer could tape a short message from the Governor – and perhaps deliver it via DropBox or whatever is easiest.

We would need to have it for a test run by noon this Friday.

Suggested message script:

“Just a few weeks ago, Hurricane Matthew came up the east coast and impacted much of our state. I am proud of the people of South Carolina for preparing for the storm, and for the tireless work of the men and women in our local and state governments that facilitated and managed the evacuation of hundreds of thousands of our Lowcountry citizens. Countless hours went into executing the South Carolina Emergency Management Plan, and I want to thank our emergency management personnel, an all of our first-responders for their devotion before, during and after the storm to keep our citizens safe. We are still recovering, but it’s a great day in South Carolina. Go Bulldogs!”

PS – my husband, Chef Forrest Parker from The Drawing Room here in Charleston, is about to wrap up his year as one of the four SC Chef Ambassadors – it has been a truly wonderful experience.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration –
Kim
