Subject: RE: USC Baseball Game with Consultants

Hi, the Governor is open to doing this, but would prefer being responsible for hosting the lunch for the consultants rather than attending the baseball game. Looking at the dates below – I have some concerns with each of them. If we just do the lunch, then we're fine to do Friday, May 3rd. The GOP Convention is that Saturday, and they traditionally hold the Silver Elephant the Friday night before although the party has not provided me that date as a hold I'm doing it as a precaution.

Friday, May 10th is Georgia and Friday, April 19th is the week of the Heritage.

Let me know your thoughts before I go back to Commerce.

Katherine & Rebecca,

As we discussed, based on the recent success of the hosting consultants at the football games, I wanted to see if I could create something similar using a USC Baseball game. The key to this would be the Governor's schedule and willingness to host a lunch. I would target 4 - 6 consultants for this event.

Below is a very rough outline of a schedule which flows very similarly to the recent events held during the Clemson football weekend. It gives USC a chance to talk about the school as well as provide a unique South Carolina experience.

Based on working with consultants, the best time to do this is a Friday night game, allowing the consultants to fly home on Saturday morning and have some of the weekend with their families. The games that work in order of best possible schedule are:

Friday, May 10 vs. Georgia

Friday, May 3 vs. Vandy

Friday, April 19 vs. Kentucky

I would need confirmation from the Governor as to hosting the luncheon and that her schedule is clear. Access to USC box and 10 tickets – we are happy to track this part down, just let me know how you want to handle and the best contact at USC.

AD Tanner's willingness to do a tour OR stop by the box during the game.

Friday Flow of Activities (suggested)

Consultants would have flown in Thursday night or Friday morning.
