at 19:16:25 on 9/12/2019 UTC

Amy Wood I think it is a great idea. Some people like to camp primitive. And it is beachfront. I would rather pay cheaper price but I will pay the higher prices to be able to keep our beautiful HI open.

JamesandKelly Morris I'm a life long resident of SC. Hunting Island used to be my favorite place to camp and spend time with my family. Prices across the state have sky rocketed and with poor to no improvements. SC has some of the worst state campgrounds I have ever been to. Now that we as a family can afford to travel out of state, we see how other state parks are and how SC suffers and are saddened by the poor efforts of the state and how good people pay their hard earned money to stay at some of the worst state parks in the country. I hate this for SC because it gives the state a poor image which is a direct reflection of how the state is and currently functions. We stayed after 1 of the reopenings a couple of years back and the pictures are appalling. The poor efforts in electrical work fried out inverter, sadly we didn't discover until our next trip. We left early due to the swarms of mosquitoes and the large amounts of debris we had to move out of our site just so we could back in. Our neighbors said they had to work for an hour to clear a spot and not 1 park ranger or camp host offered to help. And let me just say that in the day, nobody left Hunting Island early. If I still have pics I will post them. When we expressed our concerns at the camp store on the way out, they said oh well if you don't like it then just leave! Wow...you can ask my husband, I'm not a crier, and I cried all the way to Beaufort.

JamesandKelly Morris As I mentioned before my husband and I are life long residents of SC. I asked my husband if he would go camping, that I had made reservations. He didn't hesitate saying yes, being a country boy growing up with Table Rock SP in his backyard. So, our family camping adventures started the summer of 2012. Our boys were 2 and 5. We camped @ Hunting Island SP, in the rustic tent camping spots next to the ocean! He was in love all over again! It is a wonderful experience, I dont want to discourage anyone, I just know how wonderful it was and just maybe it can get there again. Needless to say, we are still camping with a 9 and almost 13 yr old! As Ricky King mentioned there are so many beautiful places in SC to visit. We live in the upper western portion of SC if anyone has any questions about State Parks and/or things to do. HAPPY CAMPING!

Beth Graham Connie Crane yes

at 1:04:34 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Evelyn Jeffery Loggins Are these sites away from rv's? I'm a tent camper and rather be away from any noise. I recently drove through the campground and was disappointed with how close the sites are to each other. I suppose there is little peace and quiet at HI? I'd appreciate honest answers. I have never camped at the ocean and would love nothing better than hearing only the sound of the ocean.

at 2:36:25 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Franki Stevens Evelyn Jeffery Loggins the camp sites out front are very close together. If you move through the back the sites are larger and used to be secluded by vegetation. Most of the vegetation has been destroyed by the storms. We've camped at HI for many years and NEVER had an issue with noise after quiet time.

Carl Berube Evelyn Jeffery Loggins before Matthew there were 80 campsites on the right side of the road, and 4 bathrooms. 15 or 20 years ago there were more than that. Matthew wiped all of that away

Tracey Rooney Clapp Leah Boone yay!!! Thanks for the heads up. This is very exciting
at 3:21:30 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Evelyn Jeffery Loggins Carl Berube I was following this page when Matthew hit and regretted not making my way down there sooner. I drove down there a few days before Dorian just so I could catch a glimpse of it before further damage was done. It is such a beautiful place and more than what I expected.
at 3:21:35 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Carl Berube Terri Hall Surratt the primitive group sites are on a separate tab on the campground map. There are 3 together, and they are located in the "day use" part of the island. Around the middle of the island. They can't be booked online, but only by calling the park directly. They are for groups of 10-30 people, for scout groups, church groups, etc.
at 3:24:51 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Carl Berube Evelyn Jeffery Loggins I'm glad you did make it recently. And really the damage from Dorian was minor in comparison. Matthew and Irma were horrible.
at 3:27:55 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Carl Berube And yes, if you stay on a rustic tent site you'll hear the sounds of the waves :)
at 3:29:18 on 9/13/2019 UTC

at 11:58:33 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Julie Senkel Mueller Connie Crane I would imagine that's right. We know that they lost all electric up front and dont plan to add it back since the dunes system was washed away in the hurricanes. WiFi is strongest at the camp store and these are the closest to the store.

at 12:25:24 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Becky Crocker The area on the beach where the handicapped sites were could be made into a beautiful area with a little clean-up and TLC. Maybe some landscaping.

Kristen Walker Kimmee Reynolds I dunno about camping in that heat. Maybe late fall when it's cooled down some

at 14:57:09 on 9/13/2019 UTC

Leslie Young Sharpe My understanding is that it has to do with how booked they are, not how close to the reservation date. That is the case for Edisto too, so perhaps it's the same with all SC state parks.

I made a change at Dreher Island (removing one night) and that triggered my whole reservation to cost more for 3 nights than I had originally paid for 4. Michelle Strickland Anne Lang To be fair, advertising in the north east is expensive compared to Beaufort County. Makes me want to leave PA to come back home. xD

Jeff Linton These sites were under water the entire week I was there this summer. It does not take much rain and you will not only be able to hear the water, but feel it as well. Sure, $40 is a great price!

Franki Stevens Jeff Linton I'm sure they were under water during the king tide/ hurricane Dorian. Lots of sites flood during King Tide since Mathew and Irma and adding a Hurricane is a double dose! From what I understand funding has just been approved to start restoring natural barriers that will stop the flooding.

Pem Richardson Debbie Whitehead I agree. We camped there before Matthew and Irma and then after. The amount of damage was enormous! The fact that the park is back up and running is amazing! Granted, things have changed over past few years, but with back to back hurricanes it is no wonder. Lots of hard work has gone into restoring the campground and park. Still such a beautiful place! My family has camped there for close to 40 years. Still such a beautiful place!

Mary Beasley Brandenberger Karen DeLoach Morgan all it says is that a bunch of you hanged up on him and bullied him for his honest opinion, which he is entitled to. Now, all of you can do the same to me. I'm sure you will. Bullies always do.

Mary Beasley Brandenberger Kim Schlereth this isn't NJ and the cost of living is much different here. It is a pretty stiff price for a SC working family.

Bryan Withey Melissa Hammond Hislop Evans we stayed at the park several times, but have never paid that much to do so. The prices have gone up significantly in the last 10 years.
