Chris,
Great to hear from you! There will definitely be a public ceremony once and if the General Assembly votes to remove the flag from the grounds.
I will definitely keep you posted about the public ceremony – it will definitely be historic. Debate could begin as early as next Tuesday.
I hope all is well.
Thank you,
Katherine

Hey Katherine
Hope all is well in your world! Had a quick question- was hoping you could help me...
It looks like there is a great chance the flag may be removed from the Confederate Memorial at the State House after that nice press conference by Governor Haley and her supporters. If so, has there been any talk of a public ceremony? or do you think it would happen without alot of fanfare as to not create any kind of public disturbance? I'm interested in getting some video footage of the process, however it happens.
Thanks and let me know?
