The Adventure, the ship at Charles Towne Landing, has returned to its dock at the park. It was out of the water in the Charleston harbor for painting and maintenance. It will reopen to the public on Monday, Sept 5. Here's a photo of her being lowered back into the water yesterday!

South Carolina State Parks It's back, Michelle, but it will not reopen until Monday.

Cecil G. Bennett It is great to visit the replica of the type of ships that plied our coastal waters. It is more interesting to visit the ship when you are entertained and taught about the life during those times by a very informative guide named C.J. Congratulations C.J.

Michael Keith I'm checking out this state park as well as Colonial Dorchester State Historic Site, and Givhans Ferry and was just wondering if the Adventure will still be open?
