Laura S. Morrison Canoe is an Indian word that means two people ;-)

Swain Carter I think canoe is actually an indian word for two people fighting in a boat. Ever tried to paddle one of these with your significant other!!

Chris Carpenter My wife says " They are not canoes, they are divorce contraptions!"

Becky Burgess Brock My husband and I went on this trip at Cheraw State Park last November. Since I am a more experienced canoeist than he, I tend to paddle faster and more deeply. I guess you know what that does - if you do it long enough you go in circles. It was determined that I should just be the rudder. OK - we made it back to the beach and while getting out of the canoe he landed in the water. Brilliant me, I brought dry clothes but mistakenly gave him my bag. So he came out of the dressing room wearing my sweats!!! Thank goodness we went straight home. We really had a blast!!!

Stokes Smith Jr. We kayaked a section with the Boy Scouts last summer from just above the State Park to Stokes' Bridge. What a great trip! I was quite impressed with the helpfulness of the rangers!
