No, these people aren't looking for Superman....but they are looking for soaring creatures -- hawks! These fine folks are gathered at the overlook at Caesars Head to view the migrating birds of prey that soar by this time of year on their way south. You too can view the hawk migration for a couple more weeks. So far 6,863 migrating birds of prey have been counted at the overlook. Bring your binoculars and see you at the overlook!

Julie Jordan We have to go!!!
