DoD Education Activity Focuses on College, Career Readiness

The Department of Defense (DoD) Education Activity will begin a new initiative in the fall to better prepare its students for college or careers, the organization's director said. DoDEA operates 181 accredited schools in 14 districts located in 12 foreign countries, 7 states, Guam, and Puerto Rico. The system serves more than 78,000 children of active duty military and DoD civilian families.

Social Security: Online Access Can Help Veterans and Families

On Memorial Day, we honor men and women who died while courageously serving in the U.S. military.

We also recognize active duty service members, especially those who have been wounded. Cities and towns across the United States host Memorial Day parades to thank our service members and their families for their sacrifices.

Seven Simple Tools That Have Changed Deployments For Military Families

Deployments can present challenges for military families. They worry about their loved ones who are called to duty, and are sometimes stressed by things on the home front as well. Much of how a deployment turns out for a military family is unpredictable. However, there's a lot about a deployment that one can plan and prepare for, such as sharing of certain responsibilities, quality communication, identifying key resources like child care services and legal counsel, to name a few.

As PTSD Cases are Surging, Army Overhauling Mental Health Services

The Army is overhauling mental health services after years of war in Iraq and Afghanistan, aiming to end an era of experimentation in which nearly 200 programs were tried on different bases. At Joint Base Lewis-McChord and elsewhere, the Army has pushed counseling teams out of hospitals to embed with troops. It is also cutting back the use of private psychiatric hospitals while expanding intensive mental health programs at military facilities such as Madigan Army Medical Center.
