I voted for you. I am a Christian. I am also southern, as is my husband, who is also a Viet Nam veteran. You have no southern roots. Your roots are on foreign soil, so you cannot possibly understand how people who have roots in the south and ancestors who fought in the Civil War feel. I know you are American--nobody doubts that but you can't feel the hurt that those of us who cherish southern manners and culture are repulsed that 37% of the citizens of South Carolina disagree with the flag so it has to go. What comes next, will we be done away with because our accents are southern?

I am so disappointed and hurt by you giving into pressure because of a tragic event-- that made me cry and very angry,too-and blame a flag for it!

I saw a man with a Confederate flag flying off his truck yesterday and gave him a 'thumbs up'. Hopefully, there will be many others who do the same thing.
