

Dear Mrs. Halcy,

I wrote to you a while back regarding a dear friend, Dennis Rutledge. He was sentenced to 25 years for touching a girl inappropriately. A used to be friend, Sandra Piner, is still free, but, she is more responsible for what happened than Dennis. She would let anyone take those kids. As long as she was free of them, so she could sleep all day. That is actually how all this started. Camp Creek Baptist Church is where they met. Dennis knew the girl's Dad had died recently when they met. He spent a lot of money on them, plus, Sandra would take his money. He never touched those twin girls. One day Sandra told me; "Who will they believe, him or two innocent little girls," and she laughed; I knew she was lying. 25 years for touching 1 child inappropriately seems extreme. Please let me tell you the whole story about the situation. I was there from the beginning, as Sandra was a friend at one time. They have Dennis in the worst prison in S.C. Murderers and racist, gangs and really evil people. Dennis is a good Christian man. Anyone can tell you that. At least get him into a better prison. He is so worried for his life. He is a very quiet person and humble. Wish you could talk to him and you could see. Anyway, the girl he touched was 10 years old, but if you ever saw her around Dennis, you would think she was a grown woman. Rubbing all over him, sitting on his lap, jumping up straddling him with her legs. After all, he is still a man. I told Sandra many, many times that she needed to talk to her. "Oh that will be alright, there's nothing to it," she'd say. She is free but is still responsible for all that happened. Believe me, I know. Thank you so very much for taking time to read this, and if you would, call, and we will discuss other things Sandra is responsible for.

Thank you,
Gloria McCrary
