

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20110118South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10150116131042597

South Carolina State Parks published a note.

at 17:32:34 on 1/18/2011 UTC · 🌐

TUESDAY TIDBIT - Timberdoodle Tumble

Linda Gaddis Short on looks but long on personality!

at 18:17:09 on 1/18/2011 UTC

Gayle Maas I want to see one. Maybe next visit.

at 19:05:03 on 1/18/2011 UTC

Susan Wurtzbacher This is so weird - I saw this bird or something very similar yesterday in Lincolnton, GA . I came home and got out our bird book, and after searching the whole book decided the bird I saw was probably the American Woodcock. Is it possible?

at 22:01:11 on 1/18/2011 UTC

Mary Bess Johnson Susan, it is weird! I just saw one in Ridgeway, SC about 10 or 11 days ago. I went to the house to get my camera, but it was gone by the time I got back to it. I, too, looked it up but still wasn't sure. Now, after reading this, I think it was the American Woodcock! How cool! Thanks folks for posting this info!

at 22:44:52 on 1/18/2011 UTC

Rob Hand just moved to Summerville SC and can't get birds to come to our feeders. Variety of seeds and locations. Waiting 2.5 weeks now.

at 1:17:54 on 1/19/2011 UTC

Laura Kirk @Rob I had the same problem. Once I put out bird baths, birds started to come for water and stick around for a little dinner. Bluebirds, cardinals, juncos, and white-throated sparrows are daily visitors.

at 10:55:37 on 1/20/2011 UTC