The Performance Imperative: Living Up to the Promise of the Social Sector

Hello there,

Only high-performance social sector organizations consistently fulfill their missions to improve the lives and prospects of the children, families, and adults who rely on their services. But what does “high performance” really mean? More important, how can nonprofits, foundations, and the public sector achieve it?

For crisp, actionable answers, join PerformWell’s free webinar on 4/16. I will be moderating an all-star lineup of Michael Bailin, Molly Baldwin, Paul Carttar, David Hunter, and Mary K. Winkler.

These leaders will make a powerful case that the journey toward high performance leads to more meaningful, measurable change—whether it’s lifting families out of homelessness, inspiring artistic expression, raising educational achievement, or any of the myriad missions that give purpose to the world’s social sector organizations.
