CATO; b. Africa; Guinea

Elliott, Barnard

RUN-AWAY from the subscriber's plantation at Ashepoo, last October, a Negro fellow named CATO, about five feet four inches high, twenty-eight years old, of a very black complexion, with a very flat nose, large nostrils, and a little knock-kneed. He is Guinea born, but speaks pretty good English; as he went away so early in the autumn, he must be very bare of cloaths, by this time.

Also, an Ebo fellow named SYPHAX, about 20 years old, little more than five feet high, well set, and walks parrot-toed; he went away from Tulisinny plantation some time in January, and took with him a suit of white negro cloth cloaths quite new; about the end of the same month, he was carried by a white man in the habit of a Sailor, to Major Samuel Elliott's plantation on Godfrey's Savannah, but the overseer refusing to take the fellow and pay for apprehending him, the man carried him away, (supposed by the overseer to take him to me) since which neither sailor or negro have been heard of. The white man was much about the height of the negro, but not so thick in body, and said he came from Virginia. Also, a wench named SARAH, born in this country, about 30 years old, and pretty fat, she has lost her upper fore teeth, speaks very proper, and dresses very well, is seldom without shoes and stockings, shift, cap and blue handkerchief about her neck. She was bought by Mr. Robert Smyth at Mr. Jonathan Drake's vendue at Mr. Nightingale's, and since sold to the subscriber; she is a tolerable good cook and washer, and had a husband who belongs to the honorable John Burn, where it is probable she may be entertained, or if not there, perhaps in the neighborhood of Goose-Creek, at the said Drake's plantation on Back River, by some of her relations. Seventy-Five Pounds Reward. AS a waiting lad, named FRANK, my property, and late that of William Middleton, deceased, has been absent some months, I therefore caution persons using the seas from receiving him on board of their vessels, to whom, a short description of him may not be improper, as I am told he passes for a free man, and thereby may deceive them: He is some little above 5 feet high, of a yellowish or mustee complexion, with rather a pleasant countenance, would feign dress the wool of his head in the macaroni taste, the which being that of a mustee, he has teased into side locks, and a queue, but when too lazy to comb, ties his head with a handkerchief, has plenty of wearing apparel, speaks very good English, and very plausible.
