Smart Cities Now

The world's go-to source for smart city news & trends

Coastal cities in deep trouble. Is yours prepared?

Under new projections of climate-induced coastal flooding in the U.S., even the best-case scenario isn't very good. While the worst is still decades away, find out how smart communities are preparing today.

5 smart tech growth forecasts

Five new research reports take a stab at predicting the future growth of everything from outdoor WiFi to electric buses to the smart grid. Is your city's roadmap in sync? Get research highlights and links at the site.

Envision America applications open

Need help seeing how technology can solve your pressing issues? Applications are now being accepted for Envision America, a three-day boot camp in Charlotte, North Carolina, which has received national attention for its sustainable downtown core. Ten cities will be selected for the opportunity to work with technology leaders to find smart solutions to their unique challenges.

Commuting to sustainability

A new ranking of the most sustainable cities in the U.S. is out, and the leader probably isn't who you think it is. Find out how New York City managed to top the list (and why it's in your best interest to focus more attention on your city's traffic problems).

Join our Readiness Workshop in SA

Dr. Mani Vadari of the Smart Cities Council will present a Smart Cities Readiness Workshop during the Metro Advance Forum, Nov. 3-4, in Western Cape, South Africa. The event is designed to help African cities develop superior efficiency in utility management, communications, education, crime prevention and sustainable living.

5 cities, 5 smart ideas

Wondering about the ROI on fiber optics? Just ask Chattanooga... Read about Milan's vertical forest apartments that take green building to new heights... Overweight is not OK in Oklahoma City (just ask the mayor)... Learn what citizens are dreaming up with Crowdfund Plymouth... And read how a new kind of hydropower is powering Portland homes. It's all at
