Are States Losing Key Tools for Health Reform?

A new blog from NASHP's Trish Riley looks at the Supreme Court's recent decision in Gobeille v Liberty Mutual, which denied the state's ability to mandate claims submission from self-funded ERISA health plans and may have started us down a slippery slope that could limit states' broader health reform activities of states. New Webpage for State Health Insurance Marketplaces

NASHP is launching a new and improved webpage and resource center for the State Health Exchange Leadership Network. Informally known as Exchangers, the Network enables interactions between state officials and staff across the nation working to provide affordable, high-quality coverage to consumers through health insurance marketplaces. This new page provides a more streamlined hub to disseminate resources and research related to NASHP's work with marketplaces for 2016 and the future.

Open Position: Policy Director - Chronic and Vulnerable Populations Policy Team

NASHP is seeking an individual to join the Chronic and Vulnerable Populations policy team as a Project Director. The Project Director will lead day-to-day operations for at least one major initiative for NASHP, and will join additional project teams as a team member. The primary focus of this work will be on state and federal health policy issues related to major state healthcare delivery system reforms. This includes managing a large federally funded initiative providing technical assistance to states to accelerate new payment and delivery system reforms, including the integration of physical and behavioral health care systems.
