Let me look into this a little more. I don't think we can way in at all because it's an open matter but it wouldn't be an open matter with DMV so much as with the court. I have never heard of a restricted route license being a thing, which may mean that this person is trying to come up with a creative solution that just isn't permissible.

We have some time here, so call DMV next Monday (if that's permissible) and see if they'll give you some details. I think that the most we can do is write a letter of support, right?

Kevin, we would appreciate any help and support you can provide with our efforts to obtain a very limited route restricted driver's license. We have a hearing scheduled before the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings (Tracey Holland) on 6/29/17 case #17-OMVH-11-2045-CC Victoria Rushing v SCDMV. The SCDMV has been very difficult and unreasonable to deal with in our efforts to receive a very limited restricted driver's license to support continued employment in South Carolina.
