

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Message threads

Record ID: 20180531unknownMessage-threads52748_t_10212887008909884

Thanks for responding. I'm definitely not trying to cause any issues; but it was just a bit disappointing to see how some of these camps were being used. We only camp at State & National Parks because we know they are held are higher grades and regulations versus privately owned campgrounds

Participants: Tara Rhodus Jenkins, South Carolina State Parks
at 16:51:39 on 5/31/2018 UTC

South Carolina State Parks

at 16:30:54 on 5/31/2018 UTC

Thanks for messaging us. We will get back to you as soon as possible. In the meantime, make sure to visit our website at www.SouthCarolinaParks.com for up-to-date information.

Tara Rhodus Jenkins

at 16:30:54 on 5/31/2018 UTC

Me and my husband stay in State and National Parks throughout the country. We stayed at Hunting Island State Park this week. The location is terrific and the beach is wonderful! However, some of the campers and tent setups are a bit questionable. It looks almost like a homeless tent city and even there is even currently a pop up camper that has 3 tarps completely covering the camper. I would think that South Carolina State Parks would be a bit more strict on what can and cannot be allowed here. The trashiest one is directly across from the office and an eyesore. When we first pulled into the entrance I was questioning what I was getting myself into, and whether we should keep driving and find another park to use. I would love to send you a picture but it looks as if there is not an option for me to send a photo to you via fbook.

Tara Rhodus Jenkins

at 16:32:15 on 5/31/2018 UTC

Tara Rhodus Jenkins

at 16:32:19 on 5/31/2018 UTC

Oh wait I found the option on where to send pics

South Carolina State Parks

at 16:48:37 on 5/31/2018 UTC

Tara - thank you for bringing this to our attention. It is likely that these campers are using these tarps due to the extreme amount of rain we have received the past week; however we are sending this to the park to make sure these units qualify as certified camping units.

Tara Rhodus Jenkins

at 16:51:39 on 5/31/2018 UTC

Thanks for responding. I'm definitely not trying to cause any issues; but it was just a bit disappointing to see how some of these camps were being used. We only camp at State & National Parks because we know they are held are higher grades and regulations versus privately owned campgrounds