Hi!

Hope you both got a little down time (if possible) this weekend. I know you're in a holding pattern now (and NEVER want to be THAT pest) but just two quick things I wanted to get on your radar:

1- If and when it makes sense to chat about a potential interview with AMBASSADOR Haley would love to have the conversation.

Savannah actually did a neat profile with Sam Power shortly after she started the job....link below. But open to any talent (they're all interested) on any/all our NBC platforms.

2- Andy Lack Chairman of the NBC News Group, wanted to extend an editorial board invitation to Governor (soon-to-be Ambassador) Haley with our network. Would be an off-the-record meeting with key NBC execs across the news division to get to know her a little better and learn more about the issues most important to her and the new administration. We know how insane her schedule will be, but if it's something she might be open to we are happy to work with your schedule! We've done this a lot in the past and the response is incredible - just always so informative and helpful for us.

Thanks for letting me stay on your radar! Good luck with all!

Lexi
