LEADERSHIP. Governor Haley has led South Carolina through major crises with boldness and strength, but also with compassion. She has a proven ability to bring people together who have different agendas and views. Those are great skills for a leading diplomat.

SUCCESSFUL NEGOTIATOR. Governor Haley has led successful trade missions to Japan, Germany, France, and Canada, as well as a widely praised trip to India that was celebrated in that vital part of the world. The governor has a proven ability to make agreements with foreign counterparts and business leaders for the betterment of American citizens.

COMMUNICATOR. Governor Haley is an effective communicator and passionate, persuasive speaker. These qualities were evident in her Republican response to the State of the Union address this year and in her Statehouse address that united the people of South Carolina around the removal of the Confederate flag. She will powerfully represent and give voice to American interests at the UN.

DIVERSITY. As a proud daughter of Indian-American immigrants, and as a 44-year old mother of teenage children, she will embody vibrant parts of American society before the world forum.
