Hi, we visited Musgrove Mill on Sunday with 3 children. I wanted to give a shout out to the ranger on site and how awesome he was with explaining different things to the kids and showing them the musket and how it worked including how the bayonet attached to it. He even showed me a water spigot to use because I made the unfortunate mistake of stepping in dog poop. What a wonderful and informative park. Unfortunately I did not catch the rangers name, but he definitely went above and beyond with the kids. We have started making our own field trips since they aren't going on any with school.

Was he a big, tall guy? Sounds like Ranger Mark Stanford!

He was tall, not too big. Younger, maybe in his late 20's or early 30's. Brown hair and glasses.
