

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20140730South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10152581352718166

South Carolina State Parks

at 16:02:25 on 7/30/2014 UTC · 🌐

The wood storks have arrived at Lee State Park! Just another reason to come check out this awesome little park in the Sandhills of South Carolina! www.southcarolinaparks.com/lee Melissa Carr Bushnell Send them to HHI! I havent seen them this year!

at 16:04:58 on 7/30/2014 UTC

Joshua Caughman Is there any indication on how long they will be staying? I'm from Lee and am about to go out of town.

at 16:12:05 on 7/30/2014 UTC

Spring Slagle One of my very favorite parks!

at 16:18:32 on 7/30/2014 UTC

Ian Jones The damage from Hugo is still very evident at Lee State Park. Very neat place!

at 17:38:33 on 7/30/2014 UTC

South Carolina State Parks Hey Joshua Caughman! They usually hang around 3 to 6 weeks as long as the water in the wetlands stays low and there's plenty to eat!

at 17:48:36 on 7/30/2014 UTC

Valli M. Finney Saw a bunch of them flying through Santee State Park a few days ago!

at 18:21:42 on 7/30/2014 UTC

Jay Merrifield Thanks for sharin the info. I'm goin to Bishopville for work next week & love to fish the area around the State Park.

at 10:52:19 on 7/31/2014 UTC