From a constituent:

Ms. Haley,

Is there a law against voter intimidation for our local elections? If so, what would constitute said intimidation? I am volunteering on the Greg Duckworth for SC House Seat 104 campaign and Tracy Edge has a few of us feeling nervous. He told me that I should be careful (as a small business owner) who I represent, so I don't lose work...(that could be a veiled threat, or it may not be) -- but the fact that Tracy Edge was malingering around Greg's Meet & Greet last night and then followed one of the campaign workers from McLean Park, all the way to Lowe's Grocery in Little River, then sat in his car and was still there when she came out...(Her name is Suzanne Pritchard) - - and that another man, Monroe Baldwin, also working to help get Greg elected, caught Tracy Edge creeping around his private residence taking photographs of the Greg Duckworth signage in his yard...this happened WHILE Monroe's children were in the yard playing!

There's more...but that's enough for now. I want to know if there is a way we can make him stop without ending up having him on our doorstep in the midst of another mental breakdown. He is scary.

Best Regards,
